

Investigation Review

Are you confident that your internal investigation of an officer election protest will be viewed favorably by the U.S. Department of Labor if the complaint gets that far?

BallotPoint Advisory Services will review your internal election investigation to determine if you have covered all the bases and recommend any additional effort that in our opinion will be necessary to satisfy DOL.

Here are some of the questions that we will help you answer:

- Was the complainant a member in good standing when the challenge was filed?
- Did the complainant follow the procedures established in your constitution and bylaws?
- Were all of the issues contained in the member's initial protest addressed in your internal investigation?
- Did you talk to the right people to resolve the issues raised by the complainant?
- Should you talk to additional people?
- Did you review all relevant election records?
- Is a recount of the ballots necessary?

Based on our review, we will tell you how DOL is likely to interpret your findings.

Let BallotPoint help you prepare!
